

Drucker or Moretti?

Theoretical Discussion

Moretti Points with StoryMapJS

- Quantitative data
 - Information that is processed to allow them to be transformed (i.e. Graphs, tables, etc...)
- The enableability to specify in various media/mediums
 - Graphs that can exist with other forms of media (i.e. Text, videos, etc...)
- Sustainability
 - Does the graph contain enough information for the user?
- Rhyme and rhythm
 - The stability between everything as a whole

Drucker Points with StoryMapJS

- Subjectivity
 - Using capta instead of data
 - The information is not just numbers that can be plotted on graphs, charts, etc...
- Graph interpretation
 - StoryMapJS doesn't restrict users of what information they want to display first
 - The ability of choosing what point to view at whatever time

ARYA'S JOURNEY

SPOILERS. This map is based on the books.

Arya Stark is the youngest daughter of Lord Eddard and Lady Catelyn Stark. She is known for preferring weaponry to gowns. Arya is the only character to have at least one POV chapter in all of the published novels. On the HBO series, Arya is played by Maisie Williams.

Aliases:

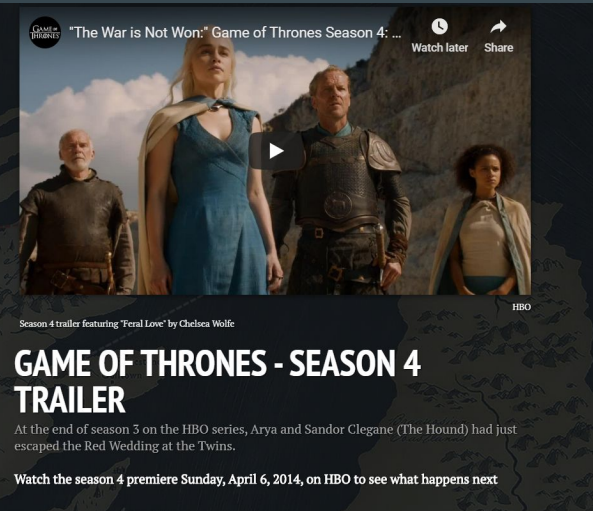

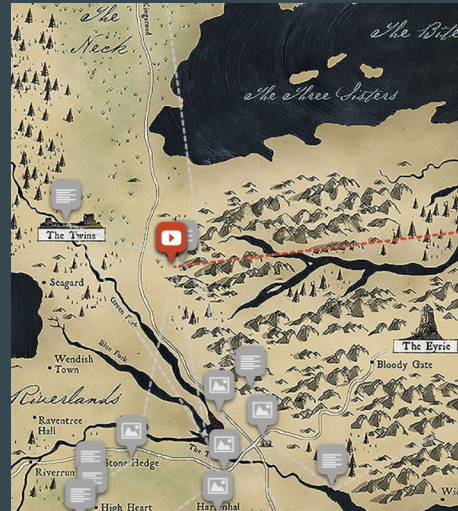

Arya Horseface, Arya Underfoot, Arry, Weasel, Nan, Squab, Salty, Cat of the Canals, Blind Beth

Graph Interpretation

The ability pick certain locations rather than forced to go along the timeline

FROM 0 TO £89 MILLION POUNDS: THE MOST EXPENSIVE PLAYER TRANSFERS IN FOOTBALL HISTORY

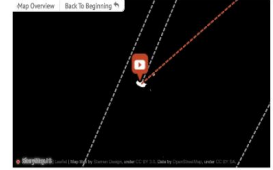

by Alessandro Barilaro and Jonathan Pertile

Football is a game played with money. Sponsorship, television deals, merchandising: the obscene amount of currency fills world football, and it's all circulated in a market where players are constantly moving. In order for a player to move, one club must bid a certain amount of money: the player's market value. And the most recent and the best
